Effect of white cigarette paper on the flame of cigarettes. Despite tobacco being the major source of carcinogens for smokers, cigarette makers make available to them "modified" versions of cigarettes that have no or minimal tobacco and/or that contain additives that limit carcinogens released into mainstream smoke. In this study, we investigated the effect of adding a wrapper containing cellulose fiber to cigarettes on mainstream smoke as compared with a control wrapper. Our results showed that, although this new wrapper did not change the characteristics of the cigarette rolled, it markedly affected the composition of the smoke. In particular, its influence was observed on levels of 14 volatile aldehydes and polycyclic aromatic hydrocarbons.

Q: Dynamically load audio files in PhoneGap Is there a way to dynamically load audio files into a PhoneGap app, so that the audio file can be played using the provided methods (pause(), play(), etc.)? A: The player you create is actually the one being played (you may have to call render() or prepare()). The source of that player is the data passed as the src or the url argument to the onerror handler.

Improved immunohistochemical investigation of arginine vasopressin (AVP) positive cells in the paraventricular, supraoptic, and periventricular nuclei in the human hypothalamus. The present report deals with the application of the alkaline phosphatase anti-alkaline phosphatase (APAAP) immunohistochemical technique to the investigation of arginine vasopressin (AVP) positive cells in the paraventricular (PVN), supraoptic

(SON) and periventricular nuclei (PVN) in the human hypothalamus. AVP in the human hypothalamus is present in a strikingly similar manner to that seen in rodents, where the magnocellular neurones 3ef4e8ef8d
