This sounds like a mess. Is there a better way to do this in mongo? A: db.users.find({ 'posts': { $exists: 0 } }); A: You can also use the $none operator as well. db.users.find({ 'posts': { $none : true } }); Q: Why does "get" with objects return the wrong result? I want to get the name of the user to display in the next field, but when I use .get it doesn't work. This is the code I'm using: def name(request): if not request.user.is_authenticated(): return render(request, 'login.html') else: print(request.user) return render(request, 'index.html') This is the HTML code: My Site {% get_current_user %} {% user_logged_in %} {% user_profile %
