They included 145 primary liver transplantations (PLT) and 50 re-operations (RO). Primary graft non-function occurred in 2.7% (2/74) of the PLT with emergency liver transplantation and in 12.9% (3/23) of the PLT with elective transplantation. A good result was obtained in 94.7% (92/96) of the patients who survived 6 months, among them 73.7% (70/93) in the PLT with emergency transplantation. The average survival time was 4.9 months in the first half and 15.5 months in the second half. The total survival rate was 76.4% in the first half and 45.8% in the second half. Serious complications occurred in 59 cases including massive hemorrhage, sepsis, renal failure, hepatic artery thrombosis, bacterial or viral infection. Less intensive immunosuppressive regimens which include anti-metabolite and/or anti-tumor could be used in cases with poor prognosis.Q: AngularJS not always firing a $broadcast I
