The problem is when I try to send a message from the node-red-dashboard side, the server (that's what I've set up) never receives a request. I've been using a http proxy to send the request to another service. I'm using the node-red-dashboard 0.7.2. I'm following a tutorial and also a help video, so it's quite simple. The server is up and running and also, I've checked that the system is receiving the request by setting up a dummy node. My problem is that I don't receive any response. A: I solved my problem.
